

of grades 1, 2, and 3.

At the end of his presentation, Bingham said that it is unknown what effect the pandemic will have on his predictions. In the event of a recession lasting longer than 60 days, construction activity will slow, and lower-income families may seek to live somewhere more affordable.

Evaluating Grace Best
Chad Leichti and Shane Keplinger of KPE architectural and engineering presented detailed information on the extent of improvement necessary to bring Grace Best Education Center up to code to be put to use as a school once again.

The building is currently in use for various purposes such as housing the Home-school Enrichment Academy, the robotics team, storage, and rental use of the gym. Most of these activities take place in the newest portion of the building, built in 1988. The original construction dates to 1951.

Leichti and Keplinger covered such concerns as parking, exterior surfaces, plumbing,
