The Palmer Ridge High School robotics team utilized their robot to present the colors before the meeting. Team member Danielle Wieland explained the rules of competition to the board.

A "Rube Goldberg" demonstration from Lewis-Palmer Middle School was also presented. The class had been divided into several teams, each of which was allotted a 12-by-12-inch piece of plywood on which to base its creation. They could only build upward and had to start the motion of an object near the bottom of the creation. Through the use of simple tools, they had to propel a marble or toy car up and around and onto another team's structure.
