and helped develop a program for those on the autism spectrum and encouraged integrating them into the classroom. She worked at Kilmer Elementary and developed a center-based program there

- Ken Emry entered the district in 1975 as a physical education teacher and through the years progressed to football, basketball, and track coach and athletic director/assistant principal at Lewis-Palmer High School. He encouraged everyone to participate in sports.
- Hal Garland was hired in 1999 as director of transportation and then director of auxiliary services, overseeing such functions as food service. He developed a bus replacement plan and sought safety features for all vehicles, including two-way radios and video cameras. He was honored as Transportation Administrator/Director of the Year at the state level and was a nationally certified transportation director.
- Craig Ketels spent his entire professional career in the district, beginning as a student teacher in 1980. He taught instrumental and vocal music and drama at the middle school and high school levels. Many of his former students said he was their favorite teacher and taught them to strive to excellence and develop a work ethic. As the department grew, he focused on the Lewis-Palmer High School band and became activities director in 2004. During his tenure the musical ensembles in the district were recognized on the state, regional, and national levels.

- Dr. Jerry Parsons entered the district as principal of Palmer Lake Elementary School in 1973, moving to the newly formed Lewis-Palmer Elementary while the Palmer Lake school was renovated. In 1989 he became business manager for the district. His decision to serve elementary students was based on his conviction that values are formed at that stage in students' development. He founded the school library with support from a Reading is Fundamental grant. He also encouraged participation of volunteers.

Please consult the district website, lewispalmer.org, for information on nominations.

Upper reservoir target of fire mitigation effort

The board voted unanimously to proceed with fire mitigation efforts at the town's upper reservoir. Mayor John Cressman noted that a fire in that area would endanger the town's water supply. The town is seeking grant funds, which would need to be matched by the town, from the Coalition for the Upper South Platte (CUSP) to assist with the work.

Public access to reservoir trail discussed

Resident Judith Harrington suggested to the board some ways to protect the town's reservoir. Harrington proposed:

- Actively monitoring hikers on the trail adjacent to the reservoirs to ensure they are obeying laws concerning camp fires and keeping their dogs out of the town's water supply
- Requiring permits to hike the trails

Cressman and Trustee Mitchell Davis acknowledged the need to protect the town's water. Trustee Paul Banta suggested the town look for ways to manage the problem that would require less involvement by the town's government.

The board decided to begin with the placement of signs encouraging hikers to follow the rules.

Monument Creek watershed project funded

The board voted unanimously to provide $615 to a project to improve management of the Monument Creek watershed. The funding was requested at an earlier meeting by
